Still Need To Do Day

The year is almost over... so why does it feel like you have a million things you need to do before then? If you have a list of things you still need to do, take advantage of Still Need To Do Day. In a day and age when distractions are everywhere, this is a day that encourages accountability, motivates us to take action, and reminds us to remain focused.

It's a universal holiday that transcends cultural and national boundaries, as it is one that everyone, everywhere, can take part in (and probably needs to). Use the next 24 hours to get whatever things are left on your to-do list. Once you complete them, you'll be glad you made the most of this day!

Today in History

In 1932, "Flying Down to Rio" premiered in New York City. It was the 1st movie Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers starred in together. The duo would team up in a series of 10 Hollywood musical films. Rogers had a career that spanned nearly five decades, acting well into the 1960s.

DID YOU KNOW?

Planting Peace

In 1977, Kenyan environmentalist Wangari Maathai founded the Green Belt Movement to address deforestation and support local communities. The initiative encouraged women to plant trees, protecting soil while providing resources such as fuel and food. It also became connected with civic participation and democratic reform. In 2004, Maathai became the first African woman awarded the Nobel Peace Prize, recognizing her environmental and social leadership.

Trivia Answer: D

Montecore was a 6-year-old white tiger. Roy was able to make an almost full recovery (despite the doctors' negative prognosis), but unfortunately, the show was canceled.
