National Cartoonists Day

Did you have a favorite cartoon growing up? From comic books to cartoon shorts, animated TV shows, and full-length movies, cartoons are a significant part of our history. Every year on May 5th, the work and creativity of cartoonists are celebrated on National Cartoonists Day, honoring all of those creative ink-stained artists, past and present, and the fascinating pieces they have created. American comic strip writer and artist, Richard Outcault, is considered the inventor of the modern comic strip. On Sunday, May 5th, 1895, the readers of The New York World discovered an exciting new addition in their morning paper. On the pages of the paper, readers found Outcault's fullcolor drawings featuring a mischievous Mickey Dugan. The adventures of this first, full-color little boy were the first commercially successful cartoon icon.

Today in History

In 1962, the soundtrack for "West Side Story" hit number 1 and stayed there for 54 weeks. The film starred Actress, singer, and dancer, Rita Moreno. She is one of the few people to achieve an EGOT, which is an Emmy, Golden Globe, Oscar, and Tony award.

DID YOU KNOW?
Aluminum Pyramid
In the 19th century, aluminum was considered precious and difficult to obtain. However, the US government chose aluminum to top the Washington Monument. It also served as a lightning rod, connecting it to the monument and traveling 40 feet underground. Repeated lightning strikes melted down the aluminum cap by $3 / 8$ inch, but gold-plated copper rods were later added to the structure. Today, the Washington Monument still stands tall with its glistening aluminum pyramid.
