Superman Day

It's a bird, it's a plane, it's...
Superman! Originally a character in a comic book, Superman jettisoned from his dying home planet of Krypton to a small town on Earth, only to discover he had superhuman abilities. A few of the super-traits Superman has on Earth are x-ray vision, super speed, incredible strength, and the ability to fly.

Each June 12th, this action hero is recognized on his own special day. Portrayed first on TV by George Reeves and then immortalized on the big screen by Christopher Reeve, Superman has also been played in movies by Brandon Routh and Henry Cavill, to name a few. Which of Superman's abilities would you choose if you could have just one?

Today in History

In 1776, Virginia was the first state to adopt the Declaration of Rights, which established fundamental human liberties. It included the right to reform or abolish "inadequate" government. The document was written by George Mason and influenced a number of later articles.

DID YOU KNOW?

Waking Earlier as We Age

Ever wonder why you wake up earlier as you get older? Sleep patterns change as we age due to various factors, including the brain becoming less responsive to time cues. Exposure to bright light in the evening may help, as well as avoiding alcohol before bed and exercising regularly. While some factors are out of our control, healthy habits can help us get better rest.
