Babbling Day

What's all the chatter about? Well, today is Babbling Day. Whether you know someone who is a babbler or you babble yourself, today is a day where everyone can ramble on until their heart's content. It is highly encouraged to go out and tell as many people as you can about this day. After all, Babbling Day is certainly not a day for one to be silent. If you don't want to celebrate the day by babbling yourself, you can always lend your ear to some of the best babblers in the world—babies and politicians.

And if you want to learn a new word, a blatherskite is a person who babbles. On second thought, do yourself a favor and go sit by a babblingbrook instead.

Today in History

In 2001, Michael Jackson, Mariah Carey, Aerosmith, and the Backstreet Boys performed at “United We Stand,” a benefit concert for the victims of the September 11th terrorist attacks. The show was held at RFK Stadium in Washington D.C. and was organized and headlined by Jackson.

Don't Pack Camo in Barbados

Wearing camouflage is illegal in Barbados and other Caribbean countries, including Antigua and Barbuda, Bahamas, Dominica, Grenada, Jamaica, Saint Lucia, Saint Vincent and the Grenadines, and Trinidad and Tobago. The law is strictly enforced, and violators can face a $2,000 fine, jail time, or both. This applies to traditional green camo and colored camo prints.
