National Caregiver Appreciation Day

Today we celebrate Caregiver Appreciation Day by recognizing the tens of millions of American caregivers who give their time to care for the ill, disabled, and elderly. The day is part of National Family Caregivers Month (NFCM), which takes place throughout the month of November. Whether they are paid or unpaid, caregivers deserve to be recognized for their selfless and, oftentimes, thankless efforts. In America, 29% of the US population (65 million) are caregivers in some way, and often times they go about their days without much recognition for all of the wonderful things they do for others. Not only do they give their time freely, but they often spend their own money doing so. If you are able, take time today to thank a caregiver for all the thankless things they do!

DID YOU KNOW?

Cappuccino Monk Inspired

Italy is often called the world's coffee capital, and many coffee-related words come from Italian. For example, the cappuccino gets its name from a 16th-century order of Italian monks called the Capuchin Friars. They were known for helping those experiencing poverty and wore simple brown robes with long, pointed hoods called "cappuccio." The drink emerged around the 1700s and was nicknamed after these religious figures because the color of the milk and espresso mixture resembled the monks' attire.
