Wear Brown Shoes Day

Did you know the term "brown shoe" originated in 1913 when naval aviators in San Diego started wearing brown leather shoes instead of black shoes to hide dust from the dirt airfield? Sailors on ships with lots of coal and tar wore black shoes. Today, aviators still wear brown shoes to distinguish themselves from the rest of the Navy.

Do you have a pair of brown shoes lying around somewhere? If so, while black is the most popular shoe color and white is right behind it, brown often gets overlooked. Brown shoes are earthy and natural to us. Darker shades of brown, like walnut or mahogany, are best for more formal occasions. Brown shoes pair well with earthy tones like khaki, olive, and brown. You can also wear brown dress shoes with gray or navy blue pants. Whatever the occasion, try brown ones today.
