National Smile Day

Share some cheer and brighten someone's day during National Smile Day on May 31st! The idea behind this day is to spread happiness and positivity by encouraging everyone to smile, no matter what their circumstances may be. On this day, it doesn't matter if you're rich or poor, young or old; all that matters is that you put a smile on someone else's face. So, let's make sure we take some time out of our busy lives and show some random acts of kindness and smiles to all those around us! When you smile, your happiness can be contagious and spread to the people around you. A simple smile at someone on the street or in a crowded room can lighten the mood and improve their day! Smiles are also great for bringing people together and fostering more positive energy in your community.

Today in History

In 1885, Dr. John Harvey Kellogg of Battle Creek, Michigan filed an application for a patent for “flaked cereal, and process of making same.” It was a controversy because he excluded his younger brother Will Keith Kellogg. He finally received credit though.

DID YOU KNOW? Strange Platypuses

Platypuses are unique animals with duck-like bills, webbed feet, venomous ankle spurs, and flat tails. They don't have stomachs because they've lost the genes responsible for creating stomach acid, digestive enzymes, and the gastric proton pump. This evolutionary change is irreversible, but it enables platypuses to thrive without a stomach.
