National Maritime Day

There are endless stories of adventures on the high seas, of sailing and sea monsters, of steering by the stars, and tales of "a red sky at night, a sailor's delight - a red sky at dawn, sailor be warned." Celebrate National Maritime Day on May 22nd by honoring the rich history and traditions of sailing, fishing, and commerce on the open sea! This special day was created in 1933 to recognize the role that ships have played throughout history in connecting people around the world, building trade, expanding ports, and fueling commerce.

From ancient explorers who first sailed across vast oceans, to modern-day cargo vessels bringing goods from one continent to another, our maritime heritage is something worth celebrating.
