National Honesty Day

Today, we are encouraged to be truthful about everything. Since honesty goes a long way in instilling confidence, it challenges us to be honest in our actions and words, no matter who we are talking to. We all know the different kinds of lies - we may withhold details to spare someone's feelings, fudge the truth just a little, or tell an all-out whopper! National Honesty Day reminds us to be truthful and transparent in all we do. M. Hirsh Goldberg, a former press secretary and author of the Book of Lies, created this holiday as a contrast to all the foolishness that April Fools Day brings. From housewives to politicians, it's a day for everyone to stay away from lies. Try to answer questions truthfully all day long. Discuss honesty with your children and grandchildren, and explain why honesty is always the best policy!

Dreaming Dogs Delight

Dogs often twitch or kick in their sleep, indicating they experience dream-like states similar to humans. Research shows that when scientists deactivated the part of the brain responsible for sleep movement, dogs began acting out their dreams and performing behaviors specific to their breed. According to dog psychology expert Stanley Coren, this suggests that dogs dream about their daily activities, with pointers dreaming of pointing at birds and Dobermans chasing burglars.
