National Tell A Fairy Tale Day

Cinderella, Jack and the Beanstalk, Little Red Riding Hood...these are some of the most beloved fairy tales of all time. We all grew up hearing fairy tales told to us, and some of us even came up with our unique fairy tales.

Ancient Greece slave storyteller Aesop, created over 600 short stories which all taught a moral of some kind. While fairy tales are mostly written for kids, they can be and are enjoyed by everyone.

Whatever your favorite fairy tale is, read it to someone today, or maybe pick one you've never read before. If you're creative, you can make your own fairy tale up...just be sure it has a happy ending!

Today in History

In 1919, President Woodrow Wilson officially designated the Grand Canyon as a national park. It's become one of the most popular tourist attractions in the US. Located in northwestern Arizona and created by the Colorado River, it's home to over 500 animal species and more than 1,500 plants.

DID YOU KNOW?

Love's Little Tokens

Throughout history, people have used trinkets, like jewelry and coins, to express love. In the Victorian era, love tokens—engraved coins—became popular, particularly in the U.S. and Great Britain. This tradition may have roots in the French custom of treizains. Love tokens peaked during the Civil War when soldiers created them for loved ones. By the early 20th century, their popularity waned in favor of lockets, though they still emerged during the world wars.
