National Megalodon Day

The ocean is full of fascinating creatures, but none were as fierce as the mighty Megalodon! Megalodon, meaning “big tooth,” lived millions of years ago and ruled the oceans. It fed on whales, sharks, and other large sea animals. This massive monster was the largest type of shark to ever live, measuring over 60 feet in length and biting its prey with 276 razor-sharp, seven-inch teeth. And although the Megalodon had six rows of teeth, that’s not a smile you’d want flashed in your direction! Fossils of Megalodon teeth have been found off the coast of North Carolina, home to the Aurora Fossil Museum.

Today, the Megalodon is long extinct, but National Megalodon Day lives on and is celebrated each June 15th.

Today in History

In 1921, Bessie Coleman became the 1st African-American woman and Native American to earn her pilot license. While working as a manicurist, she became interested in flying. Coleman learned French, moved to France, and attended Flight school before returning to the U.S.

DID YOU KNOW?

Music, Boots, Empowerment

When Nancy Sinatra's "These Boots Are Made for Walkin'" hit the top of the charts in 1966, her go-go boots got their moment in the spotlight, too. The song, and the boots she wore while singing it, became symbols of female empowerment, and the footwear reflected the "Space Age" trend popularized by designers such as André Courrèges.

How To Play:

Each 9x9 box is comprised of 9 smaller 3x3 boxes. Each of these smaller boxes must be filled in with numbers from 1-9. Each row and column of the larger 9x9 box should not have any numbers repeated.

					7	4		1
				5	4	6	2
	2	6						5
9				1		3	4
	7		2				9
3		1				5	6
7	9	3			2
2		5					1	6
			9	4	5		7

4		6			8	9
		1	4			7		6
