Wright Brothers Day

On this day in 1903, the Wright brothers changed the world when they completed the first successful flight in a mechanically propelled airplane. The historic moment saw Orville and Wilbur Wright make two flights each from level ground into a glacial headwind blowing at 27 miles per hour. These short flights advanced aviation immensely and led to the state-of-the-art airplanes we have today. The Wright Flyer was the first aircraft to be patented in the United States, but certainly not the last.

Each year on this day, the president makes an annual proclamation inviting Americans to observe Wright Brothers Day with activities and ceremonies in honor of two brothers. Happy Wright Brothers Day, and thank you, Wright Brothers, for helping change the way the world travels!

Today in History

In 1932, the St. Louis Cardinals traded Jim Bottomley to the Cincinnati Reds after he helped lead the team to 4 National League pennants and two World Series titles. He was elected to the National Baseball Hall of Fame by the Veterans Committee and to the Cardinals Hall of Fame.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Grandmaster of Soul

Did you know that, beyond his musical genius, Ray Charles was a passionate and skilled chess player? To play without sight, he used a special board with raised squares and pegged pieces that fit into holes, allowing him to feel the entire layout. He played frequently while on tour and was known for his sharp strategic mind, often surprising and handily defeating his sighted opponents. It was a beloved hobby that showcased his incredible intellect beyond the piano keys.
