Take A Walk Outdoors Day

Take A Walk Outdoors Day falls on January 20 every year, and as the name suggests, it's a day to step outside for a walk alone or with someone. Walking comes with a bag full of health benefits, and taking a walk outdoors is always more fun than doing it on a treadmill. Walking outdoors lets your body absorb Vitamin D, which is good for your bones and muscle growth. Today, we are familiar with various forms of walking such as race walking, speed walking, brisk walking, power walking, marathons, and so on. Walking has even become a mode of worship. If you have a daily ritual, like getting your morning coffee, reading a book, or listening to music, club it with a bit of walking. This way, you don't have to find an extra slot in your busy schedule for a walk. Make it a group effort for added enjoyment.

DID YOU KNOW?

A Tiny Powerhouse

For every human on Earth, there are about 1.6 million ants. All the ants combined weigh about the same as all the humans combined. That's enough for everyone to receive a portion of all the ants equal to their weight. Ants are incredibly strong, able to carry 10–50 times their body weight. The Asian weaver ant can lift 100 times its mass. Ants also have two stomachs, one for their food and one for sharing with others.
