National Learn about Butterflies Day

Butterflies are some of the most beautiful and gentle creatures on earth, so why not spend today learning more about them? While having Learn About Butterflies Day in March seems a little silly considering the cold weather this time of year is not conducive to butterflies, it actually makes a lot of sense as it allows you to read up on them before they bless us with their presence. Although they start out as dull-looking caterpillars, butterflies blossom into bright, beautiful winged creatures, serving as the ultimate living proof that beauty takes time and you shouldn't judge a book by its cover. Celebrate the butterfly today by learning something about it you don't know!

Today in History

In 1950, the FBI released its first Ten Most Wanted list, the oldest FBI program. It started after a reporter for the International News Service asked the agency for the names and descriptions of the “toughest guys” the bureau wanted to capture.

DID YOU KNOW?

Sabbath Mode

During the sacred day of rest (Shabbat) from Friday sundown to Saturday sundown, observant Jews refrain from engaging in any "work". A recent innovation in modern home appliances, known as "Sabbath mode," addresses this. This feature ensures that refrigerator lights do not illuminate upon opening, water and ice dispensers are deactivated, ovens maintain a steady temperature, appliances do not emit sounds or show temperature readings, and elevators halt on every floor.
