National Multiple Personality Day

On this Multiple Personality Day, get in touch with your inner selves. Talk with yourselves...ask yourselves questions...really get to know your various personalities. All joking aside, people suffering from multiple personality disorder can oftentimes be very dangerous, and if you suspect someone may have it, please encourage them to get help. Having multiple personalities is a psychological disorder that requires a professional to help manage. However, just because you might talk to yourself doesn't mean you're mentally ill. In fact, studies have shown that people who talk to themselves tend to be more intelligent since talking to themselves improves cognitive performance and brain function, boosts memory retention, and helps one organize their thoughts in addition to other benefits.

Jimmy Carter wasn't only a peanut farmer. He had many other professions. But one of his best positions was working as a naval nuclear officer onboard the USS Seawolf, where he helped avert a nuclear disaster near Ottawa in 1952. Carter led a team of men to take apart and replace the reactor through a basement filled with radioactive water. Carter's knowledge of nuclear reactors served him well; as a world leader, he was respected for his expertise on the subject.
