National Hug a GI Day

Embrace all the GIs you can embrace today because it's Hug A GI Day! Whether active or retired, show GIs (short for Ground Infantry) and all military members past and present everywhere that you're thankful for their service to our country by giving them a big 'ol hug! You are also welcome to buy them a cup of coffee or lunch, as well. If it weren't for their brave service to our country, risking their lives for us, then we would not enjoy the freedoms and safety we currently do. If you're feeling nice, you could even buy them a cup of coffee or a meal.

Now, get on out there and get to hugging...that's an order!

Today in History

In 1974, "People" magazine was launched. Actress Mia Farrow was featured on the cover. At the time, she was starring in the film "The Great Gatsby." The issue also featured stories on Gloria Vanderbilt and the wives of U.S. Vietnam vets who were MIA.

DID YOU KNOW? Nature's Tiny Top Gun

Insects can be annoying, but today we are considering the dragonfly. These efficient hunters capture prey mid-air, possessing the unique ability to hover and even eat while flying. Their massive eyes provide a nearly 360-degree view, allowing them to see every angle. With more than 5,000 species worldwide, they are as diverse as they are skilled. These ancient aerial acrobats have actually graced our planet for over 300 million years. Next time you see one, just smile!
