International Scribble Day

While not everyone is blessed with the ability to create amazing works of art, we are all able to scribble. International Scribble Day, created in 2019 by children's author Diane Alber, recognizes that not everyone is an artist, and that's OK, because scribbling isn't about creating one-of-a-kind, amazing pieces of art. It's just about making whatever comes to mind, be it illegible letters and words or crazy swirls and zigzags. Scribbling is not only a great way to relieve boredom, but it is also a good way to reduce stress.

Do some scribbling of your own today and see for yourself. Think scribbling is silly? It's important to remember that every artist started with a scribble!

Today in History

In 1972, Wilt Chamberlain retired from pro basketball after 14 seasons, and he never fouled out of a game. He was enshrined in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 1978 and elected to the NBA's 35th, 50th, and 75th anniversary teams.

DID YOU KNOW? A Bite of Color History

The word "puce" stems from the French term for flea, hopping into the English language during the late 18th century. It originally described the dark, reddish-brown stains left on bedsheets by flea bites—a somewhat gruesome origin for such a sophisticated hue. Today, we've scrubbed away the pests, leaving behind a classic, muted purple-brown shade that remains a staple in high-end fashion and elegant interior design.

Trivia Answer: B. Horseshoe

The tradition of horseshoes being lucky stems from the 10th-century legend of Saint Dunstan, a blacksmith who purportedly trapped the Devil by nailing a red-hot shoe to his hoof, only releasing him after he promised never to enter a home with a horseshoe hanging above the door.
