National World Piano Day

A piano has 88 keys, and March 29th is the 88th day of the year, so what better day to celebrate World Piano Day than today? The object of today is to “provide a platform for piano projects,” but it's really to celebrate everything great about one of the world's most popular instruments.

In fact, an estimated 18 million Americans play the piano, and according to the Guinness World Book of Records, the largest piano ever built is 8' 2" wide by 19' 10" in length and 6' 3" in height!

If you know how to play the piano, share your talents with the world today, or just listen to someone who really knows how to tickle the ivories.

Today in History

In 1990, the world's largest yo-yo was launched from a 160-foot crane. It was 6 ft. in diameter, weighed 820 lbs., and yo-yoed 12 times. The National Yo-Yo Museum is located in Chico, California, & the American Yo-Yo Association was founded in 1993.

DID YOU KNOW?

The Record-Breaking Sky Queen

Before learning to fly, Sheila Scott was a WWII nurse, actress, and model, but she truly soared in the cockpit. This English aviator shattered over 100 records, including a 34,000-mile world flight in 1971. During that historic journey, she became the first person to pilot a light aircraft over the North Pole. Scott's relentless spirit proved she was far more than just a multi-talented star of the screen.

SOLUTIONS

Trivia Answer: D

The role was originally offered to George Raft, who turned it down because he didn't want to work with a first-time director, unknowingly handing Bogart the breakout role that would define his career.
