National Siblings Day

Siblings Day provides an opportunity to honor our brothers and sisters. Siblings can be our closest friends or biggest rivals. They often challenge us to be better, offer support, and remind us of our most embarrassing moments. In 1995, Claudia Evert, a native New Yorker, founded National Siblings Day to recognize the significance of siblings in our lives. Claudia lost her two siblings in separate accidents and recognized the importance of cherishing the bond.

Do you have siblings? Are you competitive or supportive of each other? Spend time with your siblings and reminisce about good times. Look at photographs and videos of happy memories together. If your siblings are far away, give them a call to show them that you care.

Today in History

In 1407, Lama Deshin Shekpa visited the Ming Dynasty capital of Nanjing and was awarded the Great Treasure Prince of Dharma. He was very well received. He also performed ceremonies for the emperor's family. Deshin left Nanjing in 1408.

In the early days of Parcel Post, a few parents managed to mail their children to relatives. In 1913, an 8-month-old baby in Ohio was mailed by his parents to his grandmother, who lived a few miles away. The baby was safely delivered! Regulations were quickly established to prevent any additional mailing of children through the U.S. Mail.
