International Hug an Australian Day

Hug an Australian Day is an annual celebration that promotes positivity and gratitude towards Australia and its culture. Hugs are a symbolic gesture of love for Australia and its people. You can strengthen these sentiments by showing interest in the country's culture and people. Talking about kangaroos and koalas is great, but it's also the perfect time to have a little friendly banter. For example, you could explain that Tim Tams will never be as good as Twinkies.

Hug an Australian Day could also be called "Show Some Love and Appreciation to Australian Friends Day." However, it wouldn't look as good on a t-shirt, and the URL would be too long and difficult to remember.

Today in History

In 1952, Patty Berg scored 64, which was the best competitive round of golf by a woman. She was a founding member and the first president of the LPGA. She won a total of 57 events on 2 circuits and was inducted into the World Golf Hall of Fame.

DID YOU KNOW?

Niagara of the West

Taller than Niagara, Southern Idaho's Shoshone Falls earned the title "Niagara of the West" during the mid-19th century. This natural wonder gained further global fame in 1974 following Evel Knievel's daring jump attempt. Frequently compared to iconic landmarks like Victoria Falls and Staubbach Falls, the site remains a premier destination, blending rugged Western history with the sheer, breathtaking power of one of America's most impressive waterfalls.
