National World Tuna Day

World Tuna Day highlights the importance of maintaining sustainable fishing practices. While many people are familiar with the glasses-wearing cartoon tuna found on a can, did you know there are more than two dozen varieties of tuna, and some of them grow to an impressive size?

Blackfin Tuna can be 3.5 feet long. Albacore tuna can be as long as 4.5 feet, and Atlantic Bluefin tuna can be up to about 15 feet! But don't let their size fool you. Tuna are swift swimmers and can reach speeds between 44 and 62 miles per hour. Tuna are masters of disguise, able to camouflage their skin to blend in with their ocean surroundings. More than 96 countries around the world participate in the conservation and management of tuna to help stop and prevent overfishing.

Today in History

In 1938, American singer Ella Fitzgerald recorded "A-Tisket, A-Tasket" with Chick Webb and his orchestra. The song reached number one on "Your Hit Parade," and she performed the song in the Abbott and Costello film, "Ride 'Em Cowboy," in 1942. Fitzgerald won 13 Grammy Awards.

DID YOU KNOW? Charley Was Almost A Baseball Player?

Charley Pride was the first Black country singer to receive the honor of being inducted into the Country Music Hall of Fame. Pride idolized Jackie Robinson and wanted a professional baseball career in the Negro American League. Good thing that didn't work out for him, he was named the CMA Entertainer of the Year in 1971 and went on to have 29 No. 1 country hits before his 2020 death at age 86.
