World Teacher's Day

Today is October 5th, which means it's World Teachers Day! Everyone had a favorite teacher growing up, or at least one educator who truly inspired them. Outside of parents, teachers have the greatest opportunity to influence the growing minds of children. They do far more than simply educate; they also help shape a child's beliefs, values, and overall behaviors.

Despite having one of the most important jobs in the world, teachers often don't receive the appreciation they deserve. If you know a teacher, take a moment to give them a call, send a text, or write a quick note to let them know you're thinking of them today and to thank them for everything they do! Who was your favorite teacher when you were young?

Today in History

In 2004, forward Scottie Pippen announced his retirement from the NBA and the Chicago Bulls. Inducted into the Basketball Hall of Fame in 2010, he was also a member of the US Team that won gold medals at the 1992 and 1996 Olympic Games. Pippen was a 7-time NBA All-Star.

DID YOU KNOW?

Where Do You Cross?

The Amazon River, the second-longest in the world, surprisingly lacks bridges because they just aren't necessary. This is mainly due to the lack of need, the presence of ferries and boats, and the costly affair of building bridges across the extensive marshes. Additionally, the varying width of the river between dry and wet seasons makes floating bridges impractical.
