Mischief Night

October 30 is Mischief Night! It's the eve before Halloween, so in preparation, why not cause a little harmless mischief to celebrate Mischief Day? I mean, night? Typically, people will pull pranks and whatnot on Halloween. But why wait until Halloween to do what you can do today? With roots dating back to England in the 19th century, Mischief Night is a time to have a little fun at the expense of others. So, go ahead, spook somebody. Steal all the toilet paper. Knock on a door and run away.

Whatever harmless mischief you can get into, go for it! After all, Mischief Night only comes around once a year. Just make sure whatever mischief you do tonight is innocent and harmless.

Today in History

In 1896, "Gaelic Symphony" was debuted by the Boston Symphony Orchestra. It was the first acclaimed major work by American composer and pianist Amy Beach, who was a child prodigy at the piano. Performing public recitals beginning at age 8, she made her Boston debut at age 16.

DID YOU KNOW? Old Dogs, New Neurons

The phrase “you can’t teach an old dog new tricks” is misleading. Older adults can achieve remarkable things, from learning new languages to mastering musical instruments, thanks to neuroplasticity—the brain's ability to form new connections. In fact, older learners often have a clearer purpose and more time to dedicate to their interests. Engaging in new skills also offers health benefits, with studies showing significant cognitive improvements from learning multiple skills simultaneously.

Trivia Answer: A

The Last Supper is Leonardo's visual interpretation of an event chronicled in all four of the Gospels (books in the Christian New Testament). In 1652, monastery residents cut a new door in the wall of the deteriorating painting, which removed a chunk of the artwork showing the feet of Jesus.
