World Opera Day

Over 400 years ago in Italy, opera was born! However, it wasn't until 2019 that World Opera Day became a thing, thanks to a collaboration between Opera America, Opera Europa, and Opera Latin America. Combining theater and singing, operas have captivated audiences for centuries and continue to do so to this day. The main characters are actors who perform their lines in the song and typically have divas who perform arias that can reach a pitch so high it can break glass! World Opera Day takes place each year to provide an opportunity for administrators, artists, trustees, and audiences from the opera industry to share their passion for opera to help make the world a better place! Each year, World Opera Day takes on a unique theme that encourages people to focus on a certain aspect of this art form. Previous themes have included ideas like Unboxing Opera (2022) and Opera Reboot (2021).

DID YOU KNOW?

A Blooming Investment

Deserts hold a "seed bank" in their soil, containing billions of dormant seeds that can lie in wait for decades. A heavy, well-timed rain event—often called a "superbloom"—doesn't just provide water; it also washes away the chemical coatings on the seeds, signaling them to germinate. This perfect combination of moisture and a biological trigger creates the spectacular, temporary carpet of wildflowers.
